A New Board President for the ACCC!

The Board of Directors of the Arts Consortium of Carver County recently voted to elect and install a new Board President. Lynn Murphy joins the leadership to serve in this capacity. Lynn is a certified project manager and has her undergraduate degree in Fine Arts along with a Masters in Business Administration. Lynn has extensive experience with non-profit operations, finance, strategic planning, grant writing, and partnership development. Lynn has also spent time working with diverse community groups, non-profit organizations, government entities, research institutions, and policy makers to determine common goals and unique contributions. The board is excited to welcome Lynn into this leadership position.

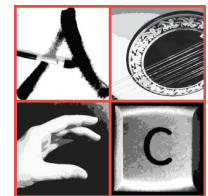

We are also deeply indebted to, and grateful for the work of outgoing Board President, Robert Braudt, whose vision and leadership inspired and helped provide a foundation for the ACCC as a grassroots arts organization four years ago. Thank you, Robert, for your investment of time and energy.
